It was a dark and stormy night. The rain lashed against the windows and the old screen door banged in the wind. Inside the house they could hear the howling, and the waves crashing onto the shore. There was not enough fuel left to light the one lamp lit. Huddled closely together in front of the wood stove, they wondered what could be keeping the other so long. They should have been back several hours ago. But what could they do? Even they knew which direction to head in, venture out in the storm would be foolhardy indeed! The

Steps to Reading Proficiency

The Academy of READING® offers a structured and sequential training program that targets skills essential for proficient reading. The four main activities include: phonemic awareness; sound symbol association; phonics and decoding; and comprehension. These skills are trained to a level of mastery that includes automaticity to ensure robust and permanent skills development.

Silent Reading Comprehension Training

10 groups of silent reading passages covering both junior and senior topics. Includes exercises to develop the student's understanding of:

- Main Idea/Theme
- Author's Purpose
- Detail
- Sequence
- Inference
